

ZUH BLESSING NGWEMETA

LEVEL 500 NURSING

FUNDAMENTALS OF NURSING ASSIGNMENT

1a)

I have always been motivated from helping others achieved their goals. The most important is that since my childhood I have always admire doctors and nurses the hospitals putting on white dresses, the care they give to people, kind and honest gave me the passion to do nursing. Nursing offers a unique opportunity for to help people work towards achieving a healthy state of being. As a nurse, I provide care support and education to patients and their families helping navigate their challenges. The rewarding nature of the job together with potentials of enjoying stable work opportunities have motivated me to persue a career in nursing.

b)

Yes. Reason being I wanted to be a nurse when i was a child. Also, the personal fulfillment that comes with helping others and making a difference. But there are many other benefit to become a nurse such as job security, flexibility and excellent pay.

2)

As for my values and philosophy they are things that motivate me to act or the other and guide my human behaviour throughout daily life and how the way of viewing things in life. Pursuit for knowlegde that is making effort to learn new information and skills which help improve my own personal skills through the time I spend with friends. Respect for all living things. Respect all living things and never take what you cannot give back or destroy what u cannot create. Again, always open minded. Always adapt and have ability to see other solutions and overcome where others struggle to overcome.

3a)

In five years to come, i see myself continuing to work hard and progressing in my nursing field. I would have to developed a good working relationship with all team members. Also, aquire more skills and expirience to successfully be a leader of a team and why not being an owner of a hospital.

b)

For me to become a successful leader, discipline is the key to leadership. When you discipline your own self, that is the first step to be a leader. Build relationships and maintain a strong collaborative team. Do things that will inspire others.
