

1) I had the passion and zeal to study any medical field since my childhood but was not quite sure of which until after an encounter with a nurse in the hospital. Adding to the fact that I feel fulfilled after helping a person, and My sister encouraged and helped me come to my final decision of becoming a nurse.

1b) Yes I will

2) As a person, I become happy when those around me are happy as well. I therefore believe and hold of importance that being kind and being of help to those around me is of great importance and makes the society a better place.

3a) In the next five years I will expect to have gained some experience in the profession while I strive to further my education into becoming a medical Councillor.

3b) By applying for a job after my bachelors degree. Work hard, be dedicated and determined, after which I will further and specialise in medical counselling
